

BEMER Physical Vascular Therapy - A strong defence is a victory for health BEMER therapy strengthens the immune system

Optimized circulation of the smallest blood vessels in the human body, (microcirculation) is not only a decisive factor for the general health but also helps the white blood cells perform their life saving work within the immune system. While working closely together with the research team of the "Institute for Microcirculation - Berlin", led by University Docent CA. Dr. med. Rainer Klopp, BEMER International has succeeded in effectively stimulating the circulation in the smallest blood vessels by specific physical stimuli to decisively supports the immune system.

Improved circulation means improved working conditions for the white blood cells. Their role in the body is as the "blood police", they protect it from infections and work to de-fuse infectious matter or matter that is incompatible with the body. These include bacteria, viruses, tumour cells, toxins, foreign particles and fungi.

BEMER helps

The BEMER therapy improves the rolling characteristics of the white blood cells and improves their ability to respond. Further, the body's own reserves of white blood cells in the lymph nodes and the spleen can be released into the blood more easily when required. They are then available in larger numbers and more able to perform in immune system support. BEMER therapy is very effective in health prophylaxis; it supports the healing and recovery processes and the therapy of chronic diseases and degenerative conditions. Even in cases where all the therapy options are exhausted.

Would you like to improve in your health?

With regular BEMER Physical Vascular Therapy use, inflammation can be reduced, the immune system is strengthened; you feel fewer aches and pains, sleep better and have a lot more energy.

What is BEMER Physical Vascular Therapy?

BEMER uses copper coils to transport a weak pulsating bio-rhythmical signal to stimulate vasomotion. The core of BEMER technology is a physical electro-magnetic signal that stimulates microcirculation to enhance blood flow to smallest capillaries, vasomotion. It moves more nutrients, water and oxygen in and metabolic waste out of tissue and organs.

Federal Drug Administration Approval

BEMER Physical Vascular Therapy is a Food and Drug Administration Registered Class 2 Medical Device. This ground-breaking innovation in alternative medicine has been used for over 16 years in Europe with proven effectiveness and safety. BEMER (Bio Electro Magnetic Energy Regulation) is the only pulsed electromagnetic field (PEMF) device in the United States that has been approved to conduct research on human subjects. NASA is placing BEMER technology in space suits. BEMER is the most researched low-level pulsed electromagnetic field device in the world. BEMER therapy is used by professional athletes to improve mental and physical abilities. The Swiss ski team travels with 80 to 100 devices.

About BEMER

The first BEMER Physical Vascular Therapy system was launched onto the market on 1998; it was developed further and relaunched in 2007 with an improved signal. Since December 1998 we have collected over 5000 testimonials and letters from users all over the world whom the BEMER system has verifiably helped. BEMER Physical Vascular Therapy represents a ground-breaking innovation for modern medicine.

The BEMER Int. AG was formed as Innomed Int. AG, and in 2010 was renamed accordingly. The company's headquarters are in Triesen, Liechtenstein, with 60 employees. BEMER America is located in San Diego CA. BEMER AG operates in the medical engineering sector and develops physical therapy methods to positively influence microcirculation.
